

Questions for Matthew Nye

How did you go about completing this essay? What steps did you follow?

Professor Bennett said we could use any form to write this essay, so I just sort of got this idea in my head, thought about it for a few days, then just sat down and wrote it. I waited a day then came back and re-read it.

What was the most challenging aspect of this essay assignment?

The last few paragraphs or so were the most challenging part of the entire essay. I feel as if they are kind of weak and forced.

How does this essay connect to your work in the course as a whole?

The essay connects to my work in the course as a whole because the whole paper is an interpretation of what we've learned regarding my life in general.

What is the most important thing you learned from doing this essay?

I'm not too sure what the most important thing I learned from writing this essay. The whole process was sort of a self reflection so I suppose the whole thing was important.
