The narrative log, used mainly for formative purposes, should describe verbal and nonverbal behavior, emphasizing what the reviewer sees rather than the reviewer’s judgment. It is particularly useful to record when a behavior or activity occurred so that the structure of the class can be placed into context and amount to time spent on certain activities can be assessed.”  The Peer Review of Teaching: A Sourcebook.

Date:
Observer

Class
Professor

REFLECTIONS
NOTES